REASONS FOR AND BENEFITS OF ENTERING INTO THE STRUCTURED DEPOSIT AGREEMENTS

Subscription of the Structured Deposits was made for treasury management purposes to maximise the return on the unutilised funds of the Group after taking into account, among other things, the level of risk, return on investment, liquidity and the term to maturity. Prior to making an investment, the Group would ensure that there remains sufficient working capital for the Group’s business needs, operating activities and capital expenditures even after making the investment in such financial product. Taking into consideration the nature of the Structured Deposits, the Company considers that the risk level of the subscription of the Structured Deposits is in line with the internal investment policies of the Group. The Group had, in the past, totally recovered the principal and received the expected returns upon the redemption or maturity of similar financial products. The Company will monitor and manage the subscription more closely and effectively. In accordance with the relevant accounting standards, the Structured Deposits are accounted for as financial assets at fair value through profit and loss.

In view of an upside of earning a more attractive return than current saving or fixed deposit under the low interest rate trend, as well as the risk nature and the relatively short term of maturity of the Structured Deposits, the Directors are of the view that this financial product poses little risk to the Group and the terms and conditions of the subscription of the Structured Deposits are fair and reasonable and are in the interests of the Group and its Shareholders as a whole. Further, the subscription of the Structured Deposits was not funded by the proceeds from the Company’s initial public offering.
